“After Virginia Tech: Guns, Safety, and Healing in the Era of Mass Shootings”

by Tom Kapsidelis

On Friday, September 20 at 7PM in the Andre Room

Free and Open to the Public

The presentation will be followed by Q&A, book signing and reception

In his new book, After Virginia Tech, journalist Tom Kapsidelis reports on the decade after the Virginia Tech shootings through the experiences of survivors, family members, and their supporters who advocated reforms to make the nation safer. They helped bring to the forefront many of the strategies to combat gun violence that are being discussed today in the aftermath of tragedies in El Paso, Dayton, Virginia Beach, and many other communities across the nation. Tom will talk about what he learned from these brave survivors and the challenges that remain.
